

Jake

History

Jake was one of two dogs in a home where the people lost their home. The dogs went to the shelter. They were adopted to a new home. Unfortunately, Jake was returned to the shelter alone. The new people didn't have time to work with him.

Jake also had pain in his leg. It had been broken. He had surgery and it had not healed well.

First visit

Jake was a friendly dog. He was assessed and needed trauma release. Introductory relaxation techniques and trauma release techniques were completed. Techniques were also completed to assist with his leg.

Second visit

Jake was a very affectionate dog who loved attention. He liked the relaxation work. He responded well to the visits.

We worked together several times and he responded well.

Jake was adopted.
